"Amazing."

With one word, veteran Roncalli football coach Bruce Scifres summed up the Rebels' ninth state championship Friday at Lucas Oil Stadium.

The 4A No. 1-ranked Rebels utilized an opportunistic defense to thwart No. 2 NorthWood's prolific offense in a 34-22 Class 4A title game to cap an undefeated season with 15 wins, including two playoff triumphs on last-second field goals.

The Rebels returned to the championship game for the first time since their four straight appearances from 2002-05. This was their seventh state title under 27-year coach Scifres (248-88) and the third time the Rebels went undefeated (14-0, 1993 and 15-0, '99).

"In a word, amazing," Scifres said while the Rebels proudly held the trophy high in front of their adoring fans. "The way our kids performed all season, stepped up and fought through adversity was amazing.'

The Rebels turned third-generation quarterback Derek O'Connor into a workhorse on the ground with 31 carries for 179 yards and three touchdowns. O'Connor's previous season high was 20 carries against Decatur Central.

A line of anxious children had formed before Santa showed up.

Truran said there's a steady crowd every Saturday and Sunday, but the wait isn't that long. As the children visit with Santa, a photographer makes portraits available to purchase through Expressions by Bev Photography.

JOURNALISTS WIN AWARDS

Southport's newspaper, The Journal, won awards at the state and national high school journalism conventions.

Last year's Journal was named an honorable mention Hoosier Star winner at the state convention, placing it among the top six large school newspapers in Indiana.

OLD HANGERS COMING DOWN

The old hangars at Indy South Greenwood Airport (note the new name) have felt the wrath of Father Time and are being demolished. The hangars, believed to have been built 60 or 70 years ago and being disposed of in an environmentally friendly manner, will be replaced by new ones, but not in the near future

FUN IN THE SUN

Nativity students and staff pause for a prayer and a large group photo before the school's annual walkathon. Some participants walked, danced and ran their way through the course. The day's event included music, snacks and prizes

Spearheaded by Pleasant Run United Church of Christ, the Snack Pack ministry provides about 1,000 students from Emma Donnan Middle School and Manual High School with food over the Christmas break

The program, launched six years ago, is the brainchild of Joanna Mihay, who had a concern and a vision for providing students with nutritious food during winter break. Mihay and a group of volunteers were able to provide approximately 300 snack backs for students the first year.

The ministry has grown in its short existence and now employs the help of parishioners from Garfield Baptist Church, staff from both schools and students from Emma Donnan.

"The bags are passed out on the last day before Christmas break," said Pleasant Run UCC parishioner Dennis Kuchler. They contain about 10 or 11 food items, including peanut butter crackers, pretzels and pudding. The packs are not intended to be a meal, but they give needy kids a little more to eat."

Snack Pack project coordinator Robert Lindemann said the program is another component in the church's efforts to address the issue of hunger among area students.

Kuchler said between $3,000 and $3,500 are needed to fund the project. Donations come from parishioners, residents, Cardwell Do-it Best Home Center, Jackson Oil, Porky's Pizza, Gordon Food Services and grocery stores People who would like to make a donation can call 317-787-6339

HEALTH COMPLEX COMING TO GREENWOOD

Franciscan Health will begin work in March on a three-story outpatient and specialty care pavilion and a connecting micro-hospital near State Road 135 and Stones Crossing Road in Greenwood. The 85,000-square-feet facility will feature an emergency department, 58 exam rooms, lab and blood draw rooms and full-scale imaging services. Both facili-ties are expected to be complete in late fall 2018. The estimated cost is $50 million

Free bus pass program for veterans reinstated

Free bus passes are being distributed to veterans in Indianapolis through the revival of a program coordinated by the city and IndyGo.

The initiative is expected to provide more than 23,000 bus rides annually for residents who have served in the armed forces

"Our veterans have made incredible sacrifices for our country," said Mayor Joe Hogsett. "This program will ensure they have access to jobs and medical facilities, as well as resources and retail establishments across our great city."

The project was spearheaded by City-County Councilor Scott Kreider, who said he was pleased to see the bipartisan effort to provide opportunities for veterans to succeed. "Having access to reliable transportation is key to the success of our veterans, as it is for many other groups with transportation needs.

The passes are available through dozens of veterans services and community centers across the city. Info: 317-327-4622

Quality of Life Plan unveiled

Eight Southside neighborhoods will unveil their Quality of Life Plan at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 13, at the University of Indianapolis Health Pavilion, 1400 E. Hanna Ave.

The program, which follows a reception at 5 p.m., will feature several guest speakers, including UIndy President Rob Manuel, Fifth Third Bank Regional President Steve Alonso, Indianapolis Neighborhood Housing Partnership Executive Vice President Rob Evans, Local Initiatives Support Corp. Deputy Director Tedd Grain and volunteers from the community.

The unveiling is the culmination of over a year's worth of community outreach and public meetings resulting in the participation of 400 residents and community stakeholders.

Goals in the plan include transforming Shelby Street into a cultural destination with local businesses and recreational opportunities. The Red Line Bus Rapid Transit is a key component of this vision as it will bring new people to the neighborhoods while improving access to Garfield Park, UIndy and other areas.

The plan also includes ambitious steps toward revitalizing Madison Avenue with the aim of making it a destination for residents of Fletcher Place and Fountain Square.

Lugar will discuss global changes, international relations

Former U.S. Sen. and Indianapolis Mayor Richard Lugar will deliver the keynote address Saturday at the 40th annual Lugar Symposium for Tomorrow's Leaders at Esch Hall on the University of Indianapolis campus.

The event will draw more than 400 select high school juniors from throughout the state for a morning program and afternoon group discussion sessions on pressing issues

The public is invited to attend the 10 a.m. opening program - including Lugar's address, which he has often cited as his most important annual public speech - will be free to the public (register at www.uindylugarsymposium.eventbrite.com). He plans to talk about America's role in the world in the 21st century.

Lugar is the president of the Washington, D.C.-based Lugar Center, which convenes experts and sponsors research on issues including global food and energy security, bipartisan governance and the effectiveness of international development aid programs.

It is my firm belief that while we are hanging around down here on this crazy planet, we should be learning all kinds of things about life in general. But to learn about the more profound moments, we have to

At the end of the day, the facts were downright brutal

It did not matter one bit that I have secretly always wanted to be asked for a recipe and bragged on for my cooking skills. The fact is that I am a lousy cook. I don't like to cook. Cooking produces dirty dishes, and I hate to wash dishes.

That's the end of that little fantasy.

Then I had to get honest about my divorce decrees, which I could use as wallpaper for my bathroom.

I can waah-waah all day about my unfortunate knack of seeming to always marry the man who enjoys dating on the side. But if I take that walk through introspection, I have to then admit to myself and all of America that I wasn't married more than 20 minutes before I started to wish that I wasn't really married at all.

Some of my ambivalence about wedded bliss had everything to do with absolutely hating predictability and routine. I also never outgrew adolescence. Try to tell me what to do and I will go out of my way to teach you that it is impossible to tell me what to do

But another cold hard fact about me is that I don't have the skills to be married

- Too bad it took 50 years to see and accept that about myself.
- It's true though.
- I love love. I'm just not good at it.

Anyway, while I have been learning about who I really am, I have run across a lot of odd moments with other human beings, moments when I wonder why at least a little bit of self-awareness never crossed their minds.

For example, while election results were causing mini-wars on social media, I read some rather inflammatory posts written by a person I thought I knew fairly well. First I was shocked by her level of nastiness and judgmental haughtiness. But then I was utterly stunned when she commented that she was so glad she was not judgmental

Um excuse me, kettle. Any minute you gonna get knocked unconscious by the pot.

There's nothing pleasant about taking your own inventory and squinting at what you see.

Who wants to admit to some lousy qualities? I certainly don't like being known as the runaway bride.

It's not always a good time to be the brunt of other people's jokes, either

But then again my poor choices got me to where I am today. At least I am willing to admit that now. Because I admit to those truths, you don't see me out here trying to be a marriage counselor

I am the first person to stand up and tell you that I was not good at being a wife. Very often I thought about how to fold my ex-husband into the recliner where he could never escape. I wouldn't have actually done that.

Well I don't think I would have.

But I entertained myself far too frequently with those kinds of thoughts. It wasn't nice at all. The least I could do was take myself off the marrying market. Right? Like it or not, I'm thinking we all need to do a lot more thinking about our own behavior.

O'Connor said they didn't quite plan it that way but after 13 carries for 40 yards and two TDs in the first half, the Rebels adjusted at halftime and returned with the senior signal-caller hitting the seams consistently to keep the Panthers' defense backed up.

"I owe this one to the O-line," O'Conner said. "They were unbe-lievable with their blocks and making sure we kept the ball moving."

Two plays were key to winning. First, O'Connor connected with Jacob Luedeman on a 70-yard touchdown pass for a 28-14 lead. O'Connor said the play was designed as a curl, but two defenders came up so Luedeman continued down the sideline for the TD pass.

And then early in the fourth quarter, NorthWood had the ball on Roncalli's 18-yard line after a bad snap from center with the Rebels clinging to a 28-22 lead. On fourth down though, Roncalli defensive back Dylan Williams intercepted a pass on the 3 and returned it to midfield before stepping out of bounds.

The interception set up Roncalli's final scoring drive, which ended with O'Connor scoring from the 22 for the final 34-22 count.

"They (NorthWood) were explosive and could do a lot of things from different formations," Scifres said. "That's what had me stressed until the last second ticked off the clock."

The Rebels iced the game after stopping the Panthers on fourth down on Roncalli's 31 and making four first downs to run out the clock in the final 6 minutes, 43 seconds. "This feels awesome," Scifres said. "It's wonderful anytime that you have the opportunity to play in a state championship game. As happy as I am, I'm more proud and happier for our kids - all the hard work they put in. They have been an unbelievable group to work with.3

Roncalli controlled the ball for 31:42 and ran 73 plays for 417 yards. O'Connor completed 11-of-18 passes to seven different receivers for 159 yards. Kenny Gillum gained 78 yards on 14 carries and Luke Smock 45 yards and one touchdown on four carries.

The Panthers ran 44 plays for 260 yards, and they dangerous passing attack was limited to 11 completions in 24 attempts. Defensively, the Rebels were led by Cade Morgan, six tackles; John Harris and Alex Kuntz, four tackles each; and Josh Swan three tackles. Williams and Gabe Otley came up with interceptions,

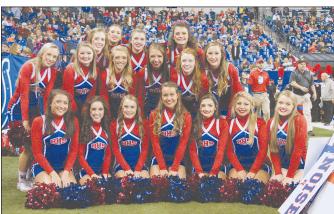

"We knew they had a passing game, but we knew we had to stop the run first," Kunz said. "Then we just had to make plays when they threw the ball and we did."

The Rebels move up to Class 5A in 2017 due to the Indiana High School Athletic Association's "success factor."

Roncalli will lose nine senior starters on offense: O'Connor, Gillum, Smock, Ben Walesky, Paul Agresta, Will English, Marc Roland, Aiden Parker and Jacob Fryar. Juniors Luedeman and lineman Christian Walker are expected to return. The Rebels will lose six starters on defense: Otley, Swan, Kuntz, Zane Wagner, Christian Brueggemann, and Chris Teney. Juniors Williams, Morgan, Tony Schott, Dominic Clouse and Jones Asher are expected to return.

Senior Tyler Swiezy receives his state championship medal.

Roncalli rout Falcons; girls county tournament opens next week

By AI Stilley Senior staff writer

On the night after Roncalli's football team won the 4A state championship, the school's basketball squad showed it could also move the ball well by routing Perry Meridian 66-41. Roncalli overcame the Falcons' tenacious halfcourt zone defense by moving the ball quickly upcourt for several fast-break baskets, beginning with leading scorer Christian Stewart going coast-to-coast for a lay-up and a permanent 9-7 lead for the Rebels. but we were taken to the woodshed," Perry Meridian coach Brent Keck said. "We got out-played, outworked and outcoached. ... We have a lot to do; we have to become a decent rebounding team, which we are capable of.'

Perry Meridian led early on Nate Mills' deuce and three-pointer and only trailed 12-9 after Mills scored from the corner near the end of the first quarter. The 6-5 senior scored seven of his team-high 16 points in the first stanza

"It's always tough to play Perry because they play zone," Roncalli coach Michael Wantz said. "We wanted to beat their zone down the floor because once they set it up with Mills on top, it's hard to penetrate.

The Rebels' strategy worked as they enjoyed leads of 33-18 at the half and 58-31 at the end of the third quarter.

Stewart and backcourt mate Bryson Meek each scored 15 points: 6-10 Collin Sonderman chipped in 13 points and grabbed nine rebounds in the Rebels' home opener. Roncalli's man-to-man defense disrupted

Trojans fail in bid to repeat as champs

By Al Stilley Senior staff writer

The 2016 football season was not supposed to end like this for the Center Grove faithful. Expectations were as high as the Lucas Oil Stadium roof when the Trojans faced rival No. 6 Carmel for the 6A state championship Friday. The Trojans entered the game with 12 straight wins and nine consecutive playoff victories. Center Grove owned a 19-6 regular- season triumph over the Greyhounds, and the Trojans had bumped off three top-six teams in a row to reach the title game.

But Center Grove's hopes of scoring back-to-back state championships dramatically ended on Conner Coghlan's 27-yard field goal in overtime to lift the Greyhounds to a 16-13 victory.

We had a huge target on our back when the season started (because) we were the undefeated state champions," Center Grove coach Eric Moore said. "We lost our first game (Warren Central). We had to refocus, figure out how to drive our car better and use No. 3 (Yeast). You can't take our 12-game winning streak away and making it back here again.

The Trojans were held scoreless in the second half until sophomore Luke Eckert calmly hit a 6A state final record 50-yard field goal just after his first successful try was negated by a Carmel time out to push the game into overtime. On the Trojans' first play, Titus McCoy ran 9 yards to the 1-yard line but left the game with a re-injured ankle.

On the next play, Russell Yeast took the handoff from quarterback Jack Kellams, leaped and had the ball knocked from his hands before he could reach the goal line. Carmel recovered the ball in the end zone to set up the game-winning field goal

CAR NUTZ

Cruising in a '41 Full Custom Ford

Bret Marvin of Indianapolis and his beloved Road Rockets Car Club spent three years working daily – even one Christmas – to complete this beautiful 1941 Ford Full Custom automobile. Bret was born and raised in Danville, Ill, where full custom cars were all the rage. He knew someday that he would build one too.

This example has had 85 body modifications, including buggy springs and front end suspension parts with air in the rear section. The fenders were pre-molded and welded to the body, and all exterior parts like the doors, hood and deck lid have been rounded. Flush mounted skirts and slanted detailers were added with built-in lake pipes. The rear sports 1949 Lincoln taillights with bumpers from a 1946 smoothie, which have been narrowed and pushed in by 2 inches all around the body.

Bret said the only person who can restore an interior with a true custom 1950s look is Freddy Hale of Bristol, Tenn. So he trailered his car there to get it done right. The Candy Tangerine custom paint was done by Dustin Cooper of Avon, Ind., while all the metalwork was completed by Tom Colbertson.

The engine compartment shows off a 4-inch stroked flathead bored to 125 over with tri-power. Edelbrock heads, Jahns pistons, including 4 ¼ lift cams, complete the custom engine.

Bret's proudest award came two summers ago when his ride was chosen as the Custom Car of the Year at the James Dean Festival in Fairmount, Ind.

Until next time, happy cruising!

for the Greyhounds' eighth state championship.

We had great effort; we just came up a little short," Moore said. "I love these kids and I'm very proud of them."

Defensively, the Trojans played well enough to win. They recovered four Carmel fumbles and intercepted two passes. The offense cashed in on two of Carmel's first three fumbles for a 10-3 halftime lead.

Senior linebacker Bailey Bennett forced the first fumble at midfield, which was recovered and returned 21 yards to the Carmel by junior Brent Boswell. Nine plays and 25 yards later, Eckert connected on a 25-yard field goal for a 3-0 lead.

Late in the second quarter, senior Corbin Laque forced a fumble that was recovered by classmate Logan Bontrager on the Carmel 25. Senior Russell Yeast ran three times for 20 yards in the short drive capped by Titus McCoy's 1-yard TD. The Trojans led 10-0 with 1:40 left in the half, which ended with a 42-yard Carmel field goal.

In the second half the Trojans forced three more turnovers that ended with drives of three plays (fumble), six plays (punt) and three plays (punt). The Trojans gained only 87 yards on 24 plays in the second half while the Greyhounds dominated the clock 15 minutes, 24 seconds, to 8:36. Carmel gained 239 yards on 40 plays, including the Jerome Halsell's 11-yard game-tying touchdown.

"We weren't as sharp offensively and we may have hit a wall a little bit," Moore said. 'It's hard to beat teams twice.'

Linebacker Nick Arbuckle led the Trojans with 12 tackles and Dan Root eight, Bennett seven, Seth Ferrando six, Laque and Sam Bolin, five each, and Bontrager, Tyler Watson and Lucas Hunter, four each.

McCoy led Trojan runners with 86 yards on 20 carries. Yeast gained 64 yards on 14 carries and caught five passes for 49 yards. Kellams completed 9-of-16 passes for73 yards. Punter P.J. Buck set two 6A records by averaging 42 vards on his six punts and a booming one that went 66 yards.

Center Grove senior wins Mental Attitude Award

By AI Stilley Senior staff writer

Logan Bontrager, a senior at Center Grove, was named the Class 6A football recipient of the Phil N. Eskew Mental Attitude after Friday's state championship game at Lucas Oil Stadium.

Bontrager, a 6-0, 175-pound defensive back, had three tackles and an interception in the Trojans' 16-13 loss to Carmel in overtime.

A member of the 2015 state championship team, he was a four-year member of the Metropolitan Interscholastic Conference All-Academic team. He also was a member of this year's 1,600-meter relay state championship team and an all-state runner.

Bontrager, a three-year volunteer at the Easter Seals Camp Ability at Center Grove, plans to to study finance, math or business law in college.

Editor's note: Stuart, the therapy dog of Southsider Voice columnist Fred Shonk, is back at the keyboard. This time he's writing about students reading to him, hurting his foot and how's he's going to help raise money for The Salvation Army.

It has been a busy three months. Now don't get me wrong, I enjoy being busy most of the time. But it is important that my five daily naps are completed in a timely manner. We have been visiting our friends in the two nursing homes that we visit every Tuesday. Sometimes I wish Tuesday came more often than once every seven days.

We also visit Beech Grove Schools, where some really cool students read me some good stories. My canine friend Allen is also a therapy dog, and he worked at Central Elementary. Allen and his human partner are working at a different school this year. I enjoy visiting Central Elementary.

About a month ago I hurt my foot and was limping and licking the sore area. My human dad and mom asked me how I hurt my thumb. After a couple of days I knew what was going to happen. Dad and I went to the doctor's office.

I had a feeling that the visit wasn't for my annual physical. Soon we were shown into one of those little rooms. Dr. Darcie Evans came in to look at my sore foot. She was messing with my thumb, which she called a dewclaw. She asked me why I wasn't looking at her. I didn't have time to look at her because I was staring at the door and wanted to leave.

They put something around my neck. It looked to me like I was in a large bowl. I had to mess with that for a while and take some medications for a couple of weeks. I'm doing much better now

On Saturday Dad and I are going to ring the bell for the The Salvation Army at the Kroger at Madison and Edgewood avenues, and Charlie the Donkey, who's one of my friends, is going to help. Charlie has done this before and raised a lot of money. He is my neighbor and one cool donkey. He lives at the Southport Equestrian Center

I will be at Kroger from 10-11 a.m. and from 1-3 p.m. Charlie will be there from 11 a.m.-1 p.m. We are looking forward to seeing lots of our friends while meeting many new ones.

You can stop by twice ... once to see me and once to see Charlie.
